2. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

In March 2015 the National Credit Regulator (“the NCR”) was empowered through the National Credit Act as amended (“the Act”) to register anyone wanting to operate as a Payment Distribution Agent (PDA). Prior to enactment of this provision, the NCR accredited PDAs to collect funds on behalf of consumers who are under debt counselling and distribute such funds to credit providers.

All the NCR accredited PDAs who operated prior to commencement of the Act must be registered with the NCR within a period of 12 months from the proclamation date. Further to this registration requirement, PDAs are required to open a separate trust account with a registered bank into which interest earned on monies collected from consumers must be deposited.

To this end, the NCR has opened a trust account into which all interest earned on monies held by the PDAs is deposited. All NCR accredited PDAs have already started transferring the interest earned to this account.

In terms of Regulation 10A 9(h) (iii) of 13 March 2015, the NCR had to develop a policy on the usage of the trust account funds (interest) for approval by the Minister of Trade and Industry. To comply with this regulation, the NCR developed such a policy which was approved by the Minister and became implementable on 15 October 2015.

The approved policy requires the NCR to conduct annual impact assessment on utilization of the funds and provide a report to the Minister.
